Investment Commentary

July was broadly a month of solid gains, with the S&P 500 and MSCI World Index returning 3.2% and 3.4%, respectively over the month, following particularly strong performances in June. This has resulted in pleasing performances from global equities year-to-date and over the prior twelve-month period.

The select global Funds/instruments to which we have both direct and indirect exposure enjoyed positive gains over the month with almost all having experienced strong recoveries since the beginning of the year. The performances of the various funds across the risk spectrum; measured over different time frames ended 31 July 2023; and reported in USD, are summarised below:

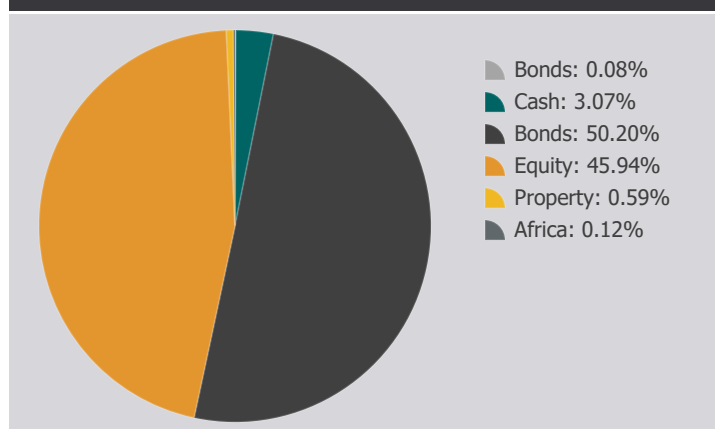

Offshore Holdings	Month	YTD	1 Year	3 Year	5 Year
Ninety One Global Franchise Fund	2.36%	14.56%	9.23%	6.94%	8.62%
Fundsmith Equity Fund	1.99%	16.15%	12.76%	7.30%	9.41%

With global inflation having peaked, but looking more likely to be brought within acceptable levels, interest rates in the US are forecast to be at or very close to their respective highs. This provides more certainty to the global equity and bond markets and means that we can look beyond the global macroeconomic factors to the performances of the individual businesses held within our actively managed portfolio components. These companies have greater predictability of their forward earnings, and thus to their share prices. We therefore remain comfortable with our philosophy to carefully blend passive and actively managed instruments and funds within clients' portfolios.

The upside for our more conservative investors is that fixed income and cash now offer an alternative that provides a return above inflation for the first time in many years, creating options beyond just equities. Our Global Preserver Fund includes these non-equity components, while we continue to avoid exposure to the global and local listed property sectors.

Risk Definitions

Market Risk

Equity markets are volatile and the price of equities fluctuate based on a number of factors such as changes in the economic climate, general movements in interest rates and the political and social environment which will also affect the value of the securities held in the unit trust, thereby affecting the overall value of the unit trust.

Currency Risk / Foreign Exchange Risk

This risk is associated with investments that are denominated in foreign currencies. When the foreign currencies fluctuate against the South African Rand, the investments face currency gains or losses.

Concentration Risk

Unit Trusts pool the assets of many investors and use the proceeds to buy a portfolio of securities. There are regulations in place which limit the amount that a unit trust may invest in securities, thereby spreading the risk across securities, asset classes and companies.

Liquidity Risk

This relates to the ability of the unit trust to trade out of a security held in the portfolio at or near to its fair value. This may impact on liquidity and in the case of foreign securities, the repatriation of funds.

Credit Risk

Credit risk arises where an issuer of a non-equity security or a swap is unable to make interest payments or to repay capital. The Fund may be exposed to credit risk on the counterparties in relation to instruments such as cash, bonds and swaps that are not traded on a recognised exchange. The possibility of the insolvency, bankruptcy or default of a counterparty with which the Fund trades such instruments, could result in losses to the Fund.

Inflation Risk

The risk of potential loss in the purchasing power of your investment due to a general increase of consumer prices.

Political Risk

The risk that investment returns could suffer as a result of a country's political changes or instability in the country. Instability could come from changes in the country's government, policy makers or military.

Tax Risk

This risk relates to any change to tax laws or to the interpretation of existing tax laws which has an impact on the manner in which unit trusts are taxed.

Compliance Risk

This refers to the risk of not complying with the legislation, regulations, prescribed investment limits and internal policies and procedures by the manager or the portfolio manager.
