Investment Objective and Policies

Investment Objective

The objective of the Fund is to target capital growth over the long term.

Policy and Guidelines

The Fund's investment objective will be achieved through investment primarily in European listed companies outside of the United Kingdom ("UK"). The securities will primarily be common stocks and other securities with equity characteristics, including but not limited to preferred stocks, warrants (not more than 5% of the Fund's Net Asset Value), rights (which are issued by a company to allow holders to subscribe for additional securities issued by that company) and convertible securities, as well as depository receipts, for such securities all of which are traded on securities exchanges or regulated markets of Europe outside of the UK.

The Fund may, for efficient portfolio management purposes also use the FDI set out under the Efficient Portfolio Management section below.

Risk Management

The Manager on behalf of the Fund has filed with the Central Bank its risk management policy which enables it to accurately measure, monitor and manage the various risks associated with the use of FDI. The Manager will, on request, provide supplementary information to Shareholders relating to the risk management methods employed, including the quantitative limits that are applied and any recent developments in the risk and yield characteristics of the main categories of investments. As set out in the risk management policy, the Manager will use the commitment approach for the purposes of calculating global exposure.

Investment Philosophy and Approach

The Investment Manager's Intrinsic Value (IV) process provides a rigorous framework for selecting the best investment opportunities in the Continental European equity markets. The IV process involves a long term cashflow and returns analysis to establish the true worth of a business. It then identifies change and specific catalysts that should result in the market reappraising the firm's true worth upwards. Where the stockmarket's valuation of a business underestimates current assets or future growth (and typically, the Investment Manager would seek a significant undervaluation), the Investment Manager would take relevant positions to attempt to drive performance. Risk management is integral to the Investment Manager's approach and accordingly it seeks to mitigate risk through thorough research and understanding the overall risk characteristics of its investments.

The Investment Manager's process of stock selection begins with a clear understanding of a company's culture, product position and ultimately the company's financial discipline and a judgement is generally formed of that company before considering the relative attraction of that company's shares. Key areas of assessment are product market potential, product position, competition and strength of management. The most relevant financial considerations are free cashflow generation, composition of balance sheet, return on capital and key operating margin. The aforementioned criteria will form part of the Investment Manager's decision making process. A central consideration is how these factors are likely to endure during the course of the ensuing 12-18 months. The Investment Manager will also attempt to analyse if cash flow generation can be sustained or improved, if returns on capital are sustainable and how robust 'barriers to entry' are to new market participants.

The vast majority of the Investment Manager's time is spent ensuring that its portfolios are holding the best possible stocks to meet the Fund's objectives. This means a continuous and rigorous examination of new information and data as it relates to the Fund's holdings. Generally, the Investment Manager is a long-term, low turnover investor. The core of the Fund's holdings are held on the basis that the Investment Manager believes these companies will deliver a pattern of improving returns over time due to features unique to that company. Its focus is on fundamental value creation and the IV of these companies relative to their market valuation. The Investment Manager will invest in those companies where it sees considerable upside over the medium to long term.

Idea generation comes from our experienced fund managers, sell side brokers and an internal quantitative stock scoring system where factors such as price to book and free cash flow are used to rank securities by their relative attractiveness. Company meetings with small and mid capitalization companies are of significant importance to the Investment Manager.

Portfolio construction is led by the Investment Manager's conviction levels on each stock and its position relative to the original selection criteria. All of the holdings will provide a meaningful contribution to the Fund. Risk is measured in both absolute and relative terms. The most influential risk control is applied in conviction stock selection procedures. The Investment Manager complements this rather subjective aspect with a robust compliance regime comprising pre and post trade checking and quantitative risk analysis tools.

Profile of a Typical Investor

A typical investor is an institutional investor, multi-manager, fund of funds or professional investor, being a corporate, pension fund, insurance company, public sector body such as a government, supranational agency or a local authority, bank, other investment firm, or any other intermediary. The Fund may also accept retail investors. The typical investor will invest over the medium to long-term and will expect the higher levels of volatility that accompany equity investments. Tax implications will vary by investor and each is encouraged to take its own tax advice.

Investment Restrictions

Over the counter (OTC) derivative instruments (except for unlisted forward currency, interest rate or exchange rate swap transactions for efficient portfolio management purposes) are not permitted.

Use of financial derivative instruments by the Fund is restricted to efficient portfolio management and hedging only.

The Fund may not enter into stock-lending arrangements.

In accordance with the Policy and Guidelines above, investments in fixed income securities are not permitted.

In accordance with the Policy and Guidelines above and the Central Bank notices, investments in fund of funds or a feeder fund are not permitted.

In accordance with the Policy and Guidelines above, the Fund is restricted to long only investment strategies. All FDI are required to be fully hedged either by cash or by similar securities.

The general investment restrictions set out under the heading "Investment Restrictions" in the Prospectus shall apply.

Efficient Portfolio Management

The Fund may also use FDI for the purposes of efficient portfolio management only and accordingly to achieve one or more of the following, the reduction of risk, the reduction of costs, and the generation of additional capital or income for the Fund with no, or with an acceptably low level of, risk. Subject to the Investment Restrictions, the Fund may use the following instruments namely: spot and forward currency contracts, options on securities, indices and currencies, swaps, futures and options on futures, when-issued and forward commitment securities (subject to the investment and borrowing limits (10% of the Fund's Net Asset Value) set out herein). Further details of the techniques and instruments that the Fund may employ for efficient portfolio management purposes are also set out in the Prospectus under the paragraph "Efficient Portfolio Management ("EPM)". The Fund will not be leveraged through the use of financial derivative instruments as cash will be retained in the Fund to the value of any derivative exposure.

Spot and forward currency contracts: A forward contract locks-in the price at which an index or asset may be purchased or sold on a future date. In currency forward contracts, the contract holders are obligated to buy or sell the currency at a specified price, at a specified quantity and on a specified future date, whereas an interest rate forward determines an interest rate to be paid or received on an obligation beginning at a start date sometime in the future. Forward contracts may be cash settled between the parties. These contracts cannot be transferred. The Funds use of forward foreign exchange contracts may include, but is not limited to, altering the currency exposure of securities held, hedging against exchange risks, increasing exposure to a currency, shifting exposure to currency fluctuations from one currency to another and hedging classes denominated in a currency (other than the Base Currency) to the Base Currency. For further information please see the "Hedged Classes" section of the Prospectus.

The Fund may employ forward currency exchange contracts to purchase or sell a specific currency at a future date at a price set at the time of the contract and/or to gain an exposure within the limits laid down by the Central Bank. "Spot" settlement means that delivery of the currency amounts normally takes place two business days in both relevant centres after the trade is executed.

Futures: Futures are contracts to buy or sell a standard quantity of a specific asset (or, in some cases, receive or pay cash based on the performance of an underlying asset, instrument or index) at a pre-determined future date and at a price agreed through a transaction undertaken on an exchange. Futures contracts allow the Investment Manager to hedge against market risk or gain exposure to the underlying market. Since these contracts are marked-to-market daily, the Investment Manager may, by closing out its position, exit from its obligation to buy or sell the underlying assets prior to the contract's delivery date. Futures may also be used by the Investment Manager to equitise cash balances, both pending investment of a cash flow and with respect to fixed cash targets. Frequently, using futures to achieve a particular strategy instead of using the underlying or related security or index results in lower transaction costs being incurred.

Options: There are two forms of options: put and call options. Put options are contracts sold for a premium that gives one party (the buyer) the right, but not the obligation, to sell to the other party (the seller) of the contract, a specific quantity of a particular product or financial instrument at a specified price. Call options are similar contracts sold for a premium that gives the buyer the right, but not the obligation, to buy from the seller of the option. Options may also be cash settled. The Investment Manager on behalf of the Fund may be a seller or buyer of put and call options. The options will be exchange traded options on individual equities or on futures contracts of equity market indices.

Swaps: Exchange rate swaps may be used in order to protect the Fund against foreign exchange rate risks. Exchange rate swaps could be used by the Fund to protect assets held in foreign currencies from foreign exchange rate risk. Interest rate, currency and other swaps, could be used to enable the Fund to gain exposure to securities, currencies or indices.

Further detail on the requirements relating to such transactions and the Collateral Policy for the Fund is contained in the Prospectus.

Borrowings

In accordance with the general provisions contained in the Borrowing and Lending Powers section of the Prospectus, the Fund may borrow up to 10% of its net assets on a temporary basis. Such borrowings are permitted only to meet the Fund's obligations in relation to (i) the administration of the Fund relating to purchase or sale transactions; and/or (ii) the redemption or cancellation of Shares in the Fund. Borrowings in relation to (i) above are only permitted for a period of up to 8 calendar days, and 61 calendar days in respect of (ii) in order to comply with the South African Financial Services Board and to allow for the Fund to be distributed to South African retail investors. However, at all times borrowings on behalf of the Fund will be in accordance with the Regulations and the requirements of the Central Bank.

The Fund may not be geared or leveraged through investment in any security, including but not limited to FDI.

Investment Manager and Distributor

The investment manager and distributor currently appointed to the Fund is:

Sanlam FOUR Investments UK Limited

Sanlam FOUR Investments UK Limited (the "Investment Manager") is a company incorporated under the laws of the United Kingdom having its registered office at 1 Ely Place, London, EC1N 6RY, United Kingdom. The Investment Manager provides investment management and advisory services to collective investment schemes and is regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority.

Risk Factors

The general risk factors set out under the heading "Risk Factors" section of the Prospectus apply to the Fund. In addition, the following risk factors apply to the Fund:

Currency Management Transactions

The Fund may utilise FDI such as foreign exchange contracts for hedging purposes as the investments of the Fund may be acquired in a wide range of currencies including but not limited to the Base Currency. Whilst hedging strategies are designed to reduce the losses to a Shareholder's investment if the currencies of assets which are denominated in currencies other than the Base Currency fall against that of the Base Currency, the use of hedging strategies may substantially limit holders of Shares from benefiting if the Base Currency falls against the currency in which the assets of the Fund are denominated.

Where, in respect of any Class of Shares of the Fund, it is intended to conduct currency management transactions, the benefit and cost of such transactions shall accrue solely to the investors in such Class and the Net Asset Value per Share of that Class shall be increased/reduced as the case may be by the benefit/cost of any such currency management transactions. Dividend Policy

It is the intention of the Company to seek UK reporting fund status in respect of Class A and C Sterling Shares. In broad terms a reporting fund is an offshore fund that meets certain upfront and annual reporting requirements to HM Revenue & Customs and its Shareholders. Once reporting fund status is obtained from HM Revenue & Customs for the relevant classes it will remain in place permanently, provided the annual requirements are complied with. UK Shareholders who hold their interests in the Class A and C Sterling Shares at the end of the reporting period to which the reported income relates, subject to their personal circumstances, will normally be liable to either income tax or corporation tax on the higher of any cash distribution paid and the full reported amount. The reported income will be deemed to arise to UK Shareholders on the date the report is issued by the Company.

Subject to the discretion of the Directors, dividends (if any) will be declared and paid on an annual basis in or around February of each year following the finalisation of the year end financial statements. Shareholders will have the option to either receive the declared dividend (if any) or re-invest in the purchase of Shares of the relevant class. Payment will be paid by telegraphic transfer in Sterling to the Shareholder's account unless the payment is for an amount less than £100 in which case such payment will be automatically reinvested in the purchase of Shares of the relevant class for the account of the relevant Shareholder. The Directors reserve the right to change the dividend policy of the Fund to reflect changes that may occur from time to time in the requirements for qualifying as a reporting fund or otherwise for the purposes of UK taxation and will notify Shareholders of any changes to the Dividend Policy.

Investors should refer to their tax advisors in relation to the implications of these Share classes obtaining such status and any payment of dividends. Please see the section entitled United Kingdom under the Taxation section of the Prospectus of the Company for further details.
